

Antigone

This is about a war for a place call Thebes. There was a war from two brothers Eteocles and Polyneices. Who ever win will get the throne but they both died in battle. Polyneices was the rebel between the two and will not be given a sacrifice buried. He will be left for the scavenger to eat. One of the sister Antigone will go against the law to buried him. Ismene tries to stop her fails and her punishment is starve to death in a cave.

I like this play because of the love Antigone has for her rebel brother and even if he attack his home land they are family. Love and family are strong things in life. The bond you have is special and nothing can replace family.
